

PRODUCE SAFETY FIELD DAY OCT 11, 2021

Good food safety management is good farm management.

Missouri Farmers Union – along with University of Missouri Extension and Lincoln University Cooperative Extension – is offering a unique opportunity to see best practices in action. On October 11, educators will be on-site at Happy Hollow Farm to walk through effective and efficient risk management.

- ✓ Rinsing, packing, and storing produce
- ✓ Water sources and distribution
- ✓ Wildlife management and preharvest inspection
- ✓ Worker health and hygiene

Plus – farmer-host Liz Graznak, 2021 MOSES Organic Farmer of the Year and proud member of Missouri Farmers Union, will share why produce safety is a priority at Happy Hollow and how it contributes to the farm's success.

LOCATION

Happy Hollow Farm
17199 Happy Hollow Road
Jamestown, MO 65046

This event is intended for farmers seeking to implement good produce safety practices as they grow their business.

join us for the

MORNING SESSION:

9am-12pm CDT
REGISTER HERE

- OR -

AFTERNOON SESSION:

1:30-4:30pm CDT
REGISTER HERE

ATTENDEES PLEASE TAKE NOTE

Tobacco products and bug spray are strictly prohibited. Throughout the event, you'll be required to wear a mask and maintain social distancing.

Please arrive promptly. We'll walk through some additional ground rules and instructions at the start of the event. Restrooms, water, and light refreshments will be provided.

REGISTRATION

$10

Space is limited.
If cost is a concern, email
Charlie Michel
(cmichel@nfudc.org) for scholarship information.