The First Impressions program, piloted in northwest Kansas, was made possible by the Dane G. Hansen Foundation. In 2016 the program was implemented in 31 communities in northwest Kansas. Nine of the participating communities are PRIDE sponsored. Since the partnership was established in March of 2016, 15 Masonic Lodges have taken part in continuing or active support in 20 communities, assisting in fundraising, volunteering and celebration of local community vibrancy.

This successful pilot, First Impressions is now open to communities involved in PRIDE formed local PRIDE organizations. Because of PRIDE, Kansas Masonic Lodges have pledged their support to local communities.

Partnerships

As a partner of the Kansas PRIDE program, the Kansas Masons, from more than 200 lodges across the state, have pledged their support to local communities. Since the partnership was established in March of 2016, 15 Masonic Lodges have taken part in continuing or active support in 20 communities, assisting in fundraising, volunteering and celebration of local community success. If your community does not have a Masonic Lodge, contact the Kansas PRIDE office and we can find a contact in your area.

The First Impressions program, piloted in northwest Kansas, was made possible by the Dane G. Hansen Foundation. In 2016 the program was implemented in 31 communities in northwest Kansas. Nine of the participating communities are PRIDE communities, and through the process, four communities not involved in PRIDE formed local PRIDE organizations. Because of this successful pilot, First Impressions is now open to communities statewide.
K-State Research and Extension

The community vitality staff visited more than 45 communities to lend support through strategic planning, informational presentations and workshops.

The First Impressions program, administered by K-State Research and Extension, helps communities learn more about strengths and weaknesses through the eyes of a first-time visitor. It also provides an opportunity to learn about the strengths and weaknesses of other communities. The immediate impacts of First Impressions are the call to action and engagement of community volunteers, the development of improved communication between residents and community organizations, and the increased awareness of community attributes. Since 2015, 50 Kansas communities have participated in First Impressions. Contact us at PRIDE@ksu.edu for more information.

Kansas Department of Commerce

As a partner of the Kansas PRIDE program, the Kansas Department of Commerce Business and Community Development Assistance Team worked with communities and businesses throughout the state. During 2016, the regional project managers assisted 39 PRIDE communities. The regional project managers also worked with 26 businesses in 15 PRIDE communities.

79 Kansas PRIDE Communities
PRIDE STAR Capital Awards

The following communities received awards recognizing their outstanding work on community projects:

Financial
Olsburg’s Land Utfard was a success as the first ever community ride. Seventy miles of back road was traveled by ATV’s and side-by-sides hauling community members.

Rossville PRIDE invited community members to use their creativity to make anything out of pallets. The Pallets of PRIDE Auction was held and all profits made helped with the installation of a gazebo and sidewalks at Andrick Park.

Social
The Delia community educated its citizens about the Walk Kansas Program, which promotes physical exercise and healthier eating. Teams were formed to motivate each other to walk daily.

The Olsburg Festival continued to grow this year with citywide garage sales, a car show, a horseshoe tournament and a street dance. Olsburg PRIDE continues to attract visitors who live outside of city limits.

Cultural
Delia Days continues to expand. This year’s festivities incorporated Delia’s history and culture into its celebration. A parade, a quilt show, historical speakers and displays were added.

Community history is important, which was shown in Olsburg PRIDE’s history book reprint. The treasures of the small town were revitalized and sold to locals.

Perry PRIDE’s Rural High School Stone Dedication helped bring a piece of history back to the community to be enjoyed by current and future generations. They now have one of their first permanent displays of history in the community.

Natural
Olsburg PRIDE and community members came together to beautify Greenwood Park. With a lot of cleanup and transformations, the park is now an oasis for travelers and the community.

Human
Youth of Delia were able to participate in a new summer reading program that provided a fun, interesting and educational program. The theme for this summer was “Sports, Exercise and Staying Active.”

Built
Alton PRIDE constructed a brightly lit cross that stops everyone in its path to gaze with wonder and awe at the powerful symbol of faith on top of the Alton bluffs.

Delia PRIDE completed concession stand repairs that came with the recently closed Delia Grade School. They completed the project just in time for Delia Days.

Lucas PRIDE made improvements to the K-18 baseball field, which made the players, fans and volunteers happy. The tournaments at the field bring in revenue for the community, so the improvements were greatly appreciated.
